

The Rheinische Friedrich-Wilhelms-Universität Bonn is an international research university with a broad range of subjects. With 200 years of history, around 38,000 students, more than 6,000 employees and an excellent reputation at home and abroad, the University of Bonn is one of the most important universities in Germany and has been recognised as a University of Excellence.

The Chair of (Social) Ethics at the Faculty of Protestant Theology is seeking to fill the following position as of July 15th 2025.

Two student assistants (6-12h/week)

The work of the Chair of (Social-)Ethics focuses on research into key ethical issues, particularly at the interface between society and technology. A distinctive feature of our research is that we combine normative-conceptual studies with empirical ethics approaches and governance issues. We are currently looking for employees for various areas of responsibility.

Spectrum of responsibility

- Assistance with proofreading (English-language) articles
- Development and implementation of new formats for science communication
- Assistance with research projects and scientific research

Your profile:

- You are enrolled in a degree programme in theology, ethics, philosophy, law, social sciences, political science, economics, sociology or a related discipline.
- You have achieved good results in your studies so far.
- You have (basic) knowledge of a qualitative evaluation programme and very good knowledge of Microsoft Word, Excel and PowerPoint.
- You have very good knowledge of English.
- You enjoy correcting scientific texts and articles in terms of language, content and style.
- You work independently, reliably and carefully.

We offer:

- flexible working hours, adaptable to either your studies or home office.
- a research-orientated, agile and collegial environment.
- a varied and challenging job with one of the largest employers in the region.
- further education and training opportunities.
- remuneration based on the applicable guidelines for the employment of student and research assistants at the Rheinische Friedrich-Wilhelms-Universität Bonn.

The University of Bonn is committed to diversity and equal opportunities. It is certified as a family-friendly university and aims to increase the proportion of women in areas where they are underrepresented, actively promoting their careers. Therefore, it strongly encourages applications from suitably qualified women. All applications will be treated in accordance with the State Equal Opportunities Act. Applications from individuals with proven severe disabilities or those with equivalent status are particularly welcome.

If you are interested in this position, please send your completed application documents by May 15th 2025 exclusively in a PDF file via e-mail to ethics@uni-bonn.de.
